Enriched with Hydrolyzed Vegetable Protein, Coconut Oil, Moringa Oil, Olive Oil, Linseed Oil, and Shea Butter that comes together in three different masks to result in stronger, resistant, hydrated, soft, shiny, loose, silky, and protected hair.

INDICATION:

Reconstruction Mask

Brittle, rubberised, weak, and sensitized hairs.

Hydration Mask

Rough, dry, entangled, and frizzy hairs.

Nutrition Mask

Porous, opaque, and lifeless hairs.

How is your hair? And which treatment does it need?

TEST IT!

1- Elasticity/Break Test:

Take a single strand of hair and tense it between your fingers. If the hair strand elongates but doesn't return to the initial position, or breaks easily in this procedure, it needs Reconstruction.

2- Roughness Test:

Take a single strand of hair and run your fingers in both directions of the strand, if it is rough, it needs Hydration. If this test is hard to evaluate, you can also put your hand with fingers opened, close to the scalp, with hair distributed between your fingers, move your hand in the opposite direction of your head (leaving the head/hair), if your hand gets stuck/entangled in some or several strands, it needs Hydration.

3- Porosity Test:

Take a single piece of hair strand (3-4cm), preferably from the tip, and put it in a glass of clean water, wait 4 minutes, if it sinks partially, it needs Nutrition.

SCHEDULE

The capillary program is usually done on a weekly schedule to be used 2 or 3 times per week at home and should be used as a routine. A healthy hair routine is to wash your hair every 2-3 days. However, you can adapt this program according to your hair washing habits.

Depending on the condition/need of the hair, the schedule can start with any of the 3 products and alternate as the hair improves.

- Usually, the Nutrition treatment is done 2-3 times a week.
- Usually, the Hydration treatment is done once a week.
- Usually, the Reconstruction treatment is done once a month.

Example for a damaged brittle hair: Starts with the Reconstruction mask on the first day. Then, after 2-3 days, use the Hydration mask. Then, at intervals of 2-3 days, conduct 3 treatments in a row with the Nutrition mask. Reassess again the condition and needs of your hair. If the hair doesn't need the Reconstruction treatment anymore, continue on a regular basis with the other 2 treatments, alternating 1 Hydration treatment for every 2 or 3 Nutrition treatments.
